ECMA-58349 HEREWITH ATT'ACHMENT A

January 1962 - After publication on Identity 1, → was questioned about his role in the publication and the use of his true name in the seen Identity-2 and had not yet read Identity-1 all the way through (Identity-2 had sent him a copy of Identity-1). He said that he was surprised and disturbed that his true name was used He added that he had not been able to reach Identity-2 to discuss this part of their agreement. (NOTE: It was later learned that Identity-2 is now in Nairobi "for an indefinite length of time". [ ] received a postcard from Identity-2 from Kenya in February 1962. ____ claims that this was the first time he knew that Identity-2 was out of the country or that he planned such a trip. □ surmises that this trip must have been sponsored by his "West German contacts in Bonn" (UPHILL). He declares that Identity-2 would never have been able to undertake such an expensive trip on his own.) As proof of his surprise over the use of his true name, _ _ pointed out the cover of Identity-1, on which his true name had been blacked out. _ _ _ claims that he is not happy over the publication of Identity-1, stating that he felt Identity-2 had made it a more commercial effort than the useful muide which _ ____ had hoped it would be when he agreed to cooperate on it. . _ _ _ _ stated that he had not seen the manuscript prior to publication and that he would have suggested changes if he had been consulted by Identity-2. To the most serious charge, that he has endangered his internal contacts by the publication of Identity-1, first pleaded "not guilty". He felt that the individuals were sufficiently well-disguised so that this could not blow-back" on his internal contacts. Only after two and two were put together for him (identification of his contacts through surveillance while he was with them - and the fact that nearly all described in the book expressed anti-Soviet beliefs) did he begin to realize (or admit that he realizes) the ceriousness of what he has done.
